

Strand's brilliant new Kaleidospot creates ever moving, ever changing colour pictures

Once again Strand have set a trend with their brilliant new Kaleidospot. With it you can produce fascinating moving light pictures of soothing abstracts, flowering bursts of brilliant colour or resolving and dissolving fantasies like the pictures in the fire we all remember. The more you experiment with Kaleidospot the more fascinating it becomes with its ever-moving, ever-changing colours and patterns. It's child's play to operate. All you do is slide on one of the six patterned glasses, focus for effect and set the motor change and movement. You can direct the Kaleidospot on to the wall, the ceiling or anywhere you wish and at any angle. Fix a picture frame to a white backing board and you can produce your own living psychedelic painting. That's the beauty of Kaleidospot—you're always discovering fascinating new colour sequences or effects.
